A Green
Night Out at the Movies

Once again the Batavia Environmental Commission's "Green Night Out at the Movies" promises to be more than just a movie. It's a community HAPPENING!!

You've read (ok, someday you intend on reading) the book that everyone's talking and writing about: Colin Beavan's "No Impact Man". Now you can see the movie that tells the story from the personal side. How does this really work for Colin (his wife and child) to do without electricity, carryouts, disposables (including toilet paper), buying anything new or eating any food not local for a full year?

Whether you're inspired, or just curious, come learn how YOU can start your own personalized "No Impact" project. Or just come, sit back and learn what others in our community have done and what they plan to try next on their own "Green Journey".

Come see what Green prizes you might win!

Can't wait till March 6th to learn more? Check out the movie trailer at <http://www.noimpactdoc.com>.

More importantly to learn how you can start your very own No Impact project TODAY go to <http://noimpactproject.org/experiment/>.

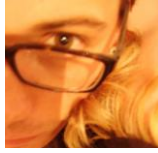

This movie is appropriate for ages 12 and up.
