Community Invited to BPS101's First-Ever Tech Luau Student demonstrations will "show what they know"

January 7, 2016 (Batavia, IL) - On Thurs., Jan. 28, 2016, from 6:30 to 8 p.m., Batavia Public School District 101 will be hosting its first-ever "Tech Luau."

This open house-style event is open to anyone in the community who is interested in learning more about the District's use of technology and see what students in grades K-5 are working on—from K-5 students! The district-wide event will be held at J.B. Nelson Elementary School, 334 William Wood Lane, Batavia.

At Tech Luau, 25-plus BPS101 students will be sharing how they learn with technology via informal show-and-tell demonstrations. Attendees will learn how students collaborate in a Google Slide, create Powtoon videos, communicate with students at other schools through a collaboration station, improve critical thinking through coding, and much, much more. BPS101 teachers and District instructional technologists will be on hand to answer questions.

This unique event is a great opportunity for students to demonstrate their tech skills and for parents, grandparents, and community members to see first-hand how technology supports learning at BPS101.
