Helping Your Child Build Executive Function Skills

Wednesday, September 18, 2019

6:30 p.m.

Rosalie Jones Administration Center
335 W. Wilson St., Batavia

Many special education learners struggle to become organized, break tasks down into manageable pieces, and plan their work to meet deadlines. Angela Malloy of Beyond BookSmart, the nation's leading Executive Function coaching company, shares insights into the skills needed for effective self-management and how kids can work toward developing the necessary skills to become motivated, accountable, and independent.
